

Extreme Reach is the best way to deliver radio spots.

Pure-digital delivery is easy for radio advertisers.

We understand the critical, time-sensitive nature of radio spot distribution because over the years our team has made millions of audio deliveries from agencies to radio stations across the country.

Our all-software platform delivers pure speed and transparency when it comes to coordinating the workflow between production studios, agencies, radio stations and clients. Open and flexible, it's compatible with Mac or PC. And our on-demand bandwidth and storage accommodate one spot to one station or a burst of hundreds of spots to thousands of destinations.

Pure-digital delivery is a snap for radio stations too.

- Get all of your spots delivered in the exact format (e.g. MP2 or MP3) and bit rate (i.e. 320) you desire. Every time.
- Use a reliable, private, secure network that automatically sends proof of delivery receipts back to your clients.
- Enable multiple people within your radio station to receive traffic notifications.
- Receive spots, music, syndicated programming or PSAs.
- View real-time order information or listen to preview streams of the spots.
- Enjoy the flexibility of spots automatically downloading at your station or, if you prefer, visit our secure website to download them yourself.
- It's free for radio stations!

And we back up our technology with exceptional service. When you have a question, we're there for you. To get started, just click here and complete the easy 3-step registration process. We encourage you to join the Extreme Reach Network today!
